GOD IS LOVE AND NOTHING ELSE

PRaise THE LORD.

LETTER FROM GEORGE O. BARNES

DARKNESS ON THE FACE OF THE DEEP.

By subsequent discovery, as God reveals it to us in following verses, we learn that this pall of "darkness" was only an outer wrap of successive outer folds of destruction. The significance of without form and void only dawns upon us as we study the subject in detail. Under the ensnarement of darkness lay the bitter waters of death, called in scripture "the deep." Under the waters lay the smothered "dry land." Under the dry land, as in a mighty womb, the germs of vegetable growth; "four-footed beast and creeping thing" lay still and helpless. "Under the face of the deep," in relentless imprisonment, in letters of brass, the glowing wings of bow that afterwards in swift flight, clave the "open firmament of heaven," every flashing fin of fish that was soon to dart through the yielding waves, all were paralyzed and powerless to move.

This is a wondrous revelation, often overlooked, that what we call the "six days creation" is really neither more or less than a "resurrection of the dead." The grand and glorious fact that one day, in the most distant future, let us hope, is to be manifested in such power of Godhead that the like has never been witnessed in the Universe.

Ready, then, the consummation of the narrative in Genesis. A faultless creation of God destroyed and buried deeply by an adversary. How? For what? We may not know just now, for nothing is revealed. Or, if revealed, no man has discovered the "open secret" yet.

CRAB ORCHARD.

We now have regular night mails.

We had a good rain Tuesday night and it is still falling this, Wednesday, morning.

Mr. D. B. Edington has had a new porch put up in front of the cottage in which he is living.

—A. M. Egbert killed a large black cock in his yard which measured over three feet in length.

—Miss Alice Hardin, who has been confined to her bed for several days, is again able to go about.

—"I," reported the raising of the Cleveland and Thurman flag, so it is unnecessary for us to add anything further here.

—Mrs. Mollie Scott and children have been visiting friends in Lexington. Miss Lulu Stuart has gone to Woodford county to visit relatives. J. F. Holden is in Meridian, Miss., on business. Mr. Morris Harris has charge of the store during his absence. Mrs. Margaret Harper is visiting her niece, Mrs. J. H. Hutchings.

—The you have God. Take another estimate step on Paley's ground, the territory of scripture and common sense, as well.

I find this time-machine is arranged to bless mankind and make happier and better. It must have had a good designer. "A tree known by its fruits," God, the Good, is known by His works.

But I discover that this thing, designed to work good, has been modified with. It no longer keeps time and blessed, but is out of order and deserves all who trust it. Surely a deceiver is here. So when I find God's order disarranged, His harmonious creation "without form and void," I know a destroyer has been at work, and he is not far from me. The scripture knows but one from Genesis to Revelation.

A GOOD GOD AND A BAD DEVIL.

Is the only possible line to scripture, or the plainer life about us?

To make the Good God the Author of evil in any shape or form, is to hopelessly confuse the eternal principles of right and wrong, good and evil, that all controversy is at an end, and there is left nothing worth striving for. Most thinkers see this, and some hope to evade the difficulty by introducing a deist theory of evil, because they think an utter denial of Jehovah's connection with it trenches upon His sovereign authority, as the great Supreme, Whose will is done in Heaven, Earth and Hell.

Say here to say that this does not free the character of God in the least. Quod fieri per alios facit per se is a maxim in law and grace, and "treacherous" is guilty as the thief," has never been gainsaid. Besides, there can be no permission without approval. Does God approve evil?" Perish the thought!" And finally if I am to let goom attribute, let it be omnipotence, in this case and times, before LOVE. Thank God, one has not to part with either, since God had a bad devil, as revealed in scripture, are known by us.

Here then are the germinal facts of God, a Good God that creates His own way, a Poor Poor Heaven and Raved.

A bad devil, for some reason not known, has power to what God had made.

The "Heaven" is att described in this place, in others obscurely hinted at.

The "tuba in hōbo," "without form and void," "emptiness and confusion," lie in hopes up, in this strange order, a deceiver from outside to us, etc. A pool of utter despair, 2. A covering of the waters of death, salt and bitter No signs of life, but shot up in those waters, were the poor sweat creatures that afterwards emerged in separation, and 3) the living germs of fish and fowl. A hidden and submerged earth.

Within that drowned land the germs of grass and leafsand from tree, and 4) "four-footed beasts and creeping things."

THE RESURRECTION.

That is what it is. No less. The last lesson is the first also. It is "chief of the ways of God." To restore a rule needs more LOVE and power than to make perfect at first. Therefore Resurrection is God's crowning work. It is the spiritual column of the Christian System, Paul and Peter, James and John being judges. There is no Christianity, or "New Creation" without it. Neither was there any real creation in fact, apart from it. See how God describes it.

He commands the light, to do what? To shine for the first time? Nay, verily. It had shone from the gray ages, before it was hidden by that pall of Satan that obscured it in the "tuba in hōbo." It shone with undiminished radiance underneath its dense covering of darkness. Light is the same light, is there, whether "under a bushel" or "bed," or on a "canalistic?" It only varies for others. Therefore God commanded the light (shining out of the darkness) (2 Cor. 4:6) as Paul says, with the Holy Ghost's perfect accuracy of description. God's might hand laid hold of the veil and "rent" it from "top to bottom," as in after days. Then all the light had to do was to "shine." Just as did before the obstruction was removed. It was resurrected from its grave. "It was not possible" for the tomb to "hold" it away.

—Then another certain of Satan's malice was freed. The imprisoned waters that were good because from God, were separated by decree of power from the polluted waters that the devil had marred, and were placed (except temporarily) beyond the destroyer's reach, "above the firmament," while those over which the adversary had power lay still below. What is this but "resurrection?"

—Still a third marvel of risen and rising power. The poor, drowned earth, that lay in water-logged helplessness beneath the dark wave, just share in the triumphs of this glorious time. For our God

LIBERTY, June 26.—This ancient and quiet little town is undergoing a change, the first one of the slightest importance during the five years that I have visited it semiannually. This change is the old court-house that would have been an eyesore to any settlement in Kentucky, even in the days of Daniel Boone, which has been razed to the ground and which in a few months will be replaced by a new and elegant one—one that will make Casey's sister counties in the bluegrass ashamed of themselves, so much more modern in structure and elegant in appearance will her court-house be. A four dial clock will keep the citizens posted on the time and a large bell will toll the hours as well as ring for the convenings of courts, the latter having originally been done by the jailer yelling from the court-house door. The court-house will be a great improvement to the town and besides helping it in appearance it will more likely cause a feeling of pride to rise in the breasts of the people, who will improve the town themselves by tearing down the rickety old frame buildings and substituting them with brick ones. The merchants are all named men and I can but believe that they will as soon as they see the fine court-house completed, build business houses and dwellings that will be in keeping with it. Although 7 miles off the railroad, Liberty has a good many advantages and I would not be at surprised to some day, not far distant, see it a flourishing town rather than the sleepy looking village it is now. She has got considerable money and lots of good people, two of the essentials for a good town.

HARRISON AND MORTON,
REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

The republican candidates are not as well known as they might be give the following sketches of their lives:

Benjamin Harrison was born in Hamilton Co., O., August 20, 1833; graduated at Miami University in 1852; studied law in Cincinnati; removed to Indianapolis, his present home, in 1854; in 1860 was elected reporter of the decisions of the supreme court; was commissioned 2d lieutenant in 1862, raised a company, was made its captain and on the organization of the regiment was chosen colonel and just before the close of the war was brevetted brigadier general, was re-elected reporter about the same time and served four years; ran for governor of Indiana in 1876, but was defeated; was elected U. S. Senator in 1881 and served his term with some distinction.

He was Blaine's chief attorney in his libel suit against the Indianapolis Sentinel, which paper charged the latter with living with his wife before he married her.

Levi Parsons Morton was born in Vermont May 24, 1822 and is the son of a Congregational minister; received a common school education and went to clerk in a dry goods store at Concord, N. H., entered the firm of Beebe, Morgan & Co., Boston, in 1852; established the firm of Morton & Grinnell, in New York, which soon "busted," paying 50 cents on the dollar, the balance afterwards being made good with interest by Mr. Morton. He is now a member of Morton, Bliss & Co., brokers, one of the largest firms on Wall street; was defeated for Congress in 1876, but elected in 1878; was offered the office of Secretary of the Navy by Garfield, but declined and was afterwards appointed Minister to France for his faithful work with his barrel for the victorious ticket in 1880. He is a pretty decent sort of a man, but would never have been taken up by his party, but for his large wealth, which he liberally dispenses for the "good" of the cause.

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., JUN 29, 1888

W. P. WALTON.

THE KIDS ORGANIZING.

Special Dispatch to the Interior Journal.

LOUISVILLE, June 28, 4 p. m.—The Convention of Democratic Clubs of Kentucky is well attended, considering the short notice, and enthusiasm is away up. It was called to order in Leiderkraut Hall at noon by Chairman M. C. Alford, of the State Central Committee.

David R. Murray was then chosen chairman and Willis Ringo secretary. A call of the counties showed that some 30 odd clubs have already been organized. A plan for general organization was adopted, which will be given next issue.

An immense ratification meeting will be held to-night with Watterson, Blackburn, Hardin and other big guns to do the talking.

W. P. W.

There is but little left to tell of the Chicago Convention, after the comprehensive telegrams sent us by Mr. W. P. Emerson, of the Louisville Times, who has a peculiar faculty of getting at the meat of matters and expressing in a quarter of a column what the dailies would spread over a page. After the nomination of Ben Harrison had been made unanimous the next thing was to set up a vice presidential nominee. George Denny crowded to the front and got in Bradley's name in a speech chiefly notable for its extravagant and false statements and the thundering voice in which it was delivered. He was treated very discourteously throughout being gayed and having "time" called on him every few seconds. He made Bradley a demigod and promised the solid South and a good many other things if the convention would fall down and worship his golden calf—the hunch-backed bambino of Gurrard. Phelps and Levi P. Morton were likewise put in nomination and the vote being taken the result showed Morton 39; Phelps 119; Bradley 103; Bruce (ed.) 11. Morton's nomination was then made unanimous and the Convention, after throwing out a little sop to the temperance element, adjourned without day.

The vote that Bradley received surprised everybody. Most of us had looked upon his candidacy as a joke and regarded him as the victim of an insatiable longing for the unattainable, with an overweening ambition far beyond his station or ability. That he should have received 103 votes, scattered through 18 States is therefore a wonder and shows what gall and a lack of material can do for a man.

The ticket is not near as strong as it might have been, though it is more respectable than any combination that could have been effected with the candidates before the convention. Harrison is chiefly noted for being the grandson of the president, who only lived a month to enjoy the honor, while Morton's capacity lies principally in the fact that he has a "bar'l." Harrison is a very rich man, too, so with the aid of the money devils who clamor for further protection, we may expect the country to be flooded with money to debauch the honest voter. Let it come; they can stand the deluge and cast their votes as they will for Cleveland, Thurman, and tariff reform.

On the eighth and last ballot the Kentucky delegation voted Alger 1; Blaine 1; Gresham 2; Harrison 15; Sherman 7, but when "Gen." Bradley saw the way the cat had jumped he abided to the front and seconded the motion to make Harrison's nomination unanimous and promised to give him Kentucky. He had a hard time getting the chair to recognize him, but he was finally successful and when he got to shooting off his catch phrases the boys began to call "time" and the general had to retire in disgust.

Harrison's grand-daddy, Gen. William Henry Harrison, old Tippecanoe and Tyler too, was absolutely sung into office by his admiring partisans, but Benjamin will hardly get there Eli by that or any other method. Hard cider cut a big figure in that campaign too, but the republicans dare not revive that interesting feature in these prohibition days, as much as they would like to. The barrel will cut a big figure, but it will not be a barrel of cider.

WALTER EVANS does not love "Gen." Bradley and thinks his contest for the vice presidency the most laughable thing of the day. He has been charged with instigating the Chicago Tribune article, but he characterizes the statement as a simple falsehood.

We regret to learn that our friend, Hawthorne Hill, proprietor of the Mayville Republican, has been forced to make an assignment with liabilities about $5,000. It seems a bad year for republican papers.

Just wait until the Kentucky newspaper convention gathers itself together at Danville next week, and the admiring world will see a convention as is a convention.—[Louisville Times. Jess so,

THINGS are not going to be lovely in the republican camp in Ohio this campaign. Orourke's treatment of Sherman, first giving him a half-hearted support and then abandoning him when he might have stood some show is not calculated to restore harmony in that State. At any rate the democratic ticket, with the best man in Ohio on it, stands more than a fighting chance for success there.

THE Chinese are enthusiastic over the nomination of Harrison. One in Louisville exclaimed with delight: "Hillah! Chinese can't voice, but he can whoop like hell for Hillah!"

NEWS CONDENSED.

At New York Monday over 300 children died from the effects of the heat.

The Shelby democrats have organized the McCreary Club for the campaign.

At Neal, Casey county, H. M. Williams has been appointed postmaster vice W. C. Neal resigned.

President and Mrs. Cleveland will likely attend the opening of the Centennial Exposition at Cincinnati.

The result of the eighth ballot was Blaine 5, Alger 100, Gresham 59, Harrison 544, Sherman 178, McKinley 4.

Our army consists of but 500,000 men, but it takes just $24,280,700 to support them a year, or nearly $1,000 apiece.

Constable Connelie, of Scott county, was shot and killed by Caleb Parker, while attempting to serve a summons on him.

Manda Grimes, locked up for being drunk and disorderly, hanged herself in her cell at the Dayton, Ohio, Stationhouse.

Wm. Moore, a colored man, who assaulted a white woman at Mattoon, Ill., was taken from jail and lynched by masked men.

Bertie Hollins, a two-year-old child at Knoxville, fell head first into a can containing a gallon of water and was drowned.

Mrs. Adamson, of Anderson, Ind., who has been blind for 22 years, claims that her sight has been restored by the "Christian Science Cure."

William Rogers, of Franklin, Ind., was fatally injured by the premature discharge of a cannon while ratifying the nomination of Harrison and Morton.

At L & N. passenger train broke through a bridge at Hurricane Bayou, near Nashville, Tenn., killing the engineer and fireman and wounding seven passengers.

Adjutant General Hill received a letter from the captain of the Buckner Guards, at Pikeville, informing him of a threatening attack on the Pike county jail by the West Virginians to recover the now noted Hatfields.

Blaine's two telegrams read: "Earnestly request all friends to respect my Paris letter." "I think I have the right to ask my friends to respect my wishes and refrain from voting for me. Please make this and former dispatches public."

If we cannot beat this ticket we can beat none at all. But we can beat it. There is in nothing either captivating or imposing, and it sets out on its previous journey with death staring it in the face. By all means let the battle begin.—[Courier-Journal.]

A mob of 30 armed men attempted to take Dr. Hougham from the jail at Lebanon and hang him, but they were successfully resisted. The Doctor killed his brother-in-law, Sam Hays, sometime ago, under circumstances that did not warrant so desperate a course.

President Cleveland, accompanied by Secretaries Bayard and Vilas, left Washington Wednesday morning for Charlottesville, to attend the commencement exercises of the University of Virginia, after which the party drove to Monticello, the old home of Thomas Jefferson.

The people of Hawkins county, Tennessee, are much stirred up over the conduct of a Methodist evangelist, Rev. Wm. Winfrey, who has been charged with forging the names of prominent citizens to promissory notes for large sums of money and then discounting the notes. Warrants have been issued for him, but he has fled.

The postmaster general has issued an order in compliance with a recent act of Congress, which puts a penalty upon "anything in the nature of an offensive or threatening dun, apparent upon an envelope outside corner or postal card, or conveying the suggestion that such dun is enclosed, and will be excluded as non-mailable under this act."

John Monterief, night watchman for the Ohio & Mississippi Railway Co., at Mt. Vernon, Indiana, while assisting in transferring baggage, caught hold of a satchel and tossed it into the baggage car. At the same moment a loud report was heard, and Monterief reeled to the platform, wounded in the breast from a ball which was discharged from a pistol in the satchel. It is thought he is seriously injured.

The floods along the Mexican Central Railroad have been terrible in their consequences, both to human life and to property. The latest estimate received places the number of houses destroyed in Leon at 2,224, and the homeless families at more than 1,000. According to it, more than 250 bodies have been recovered from the ruins, and there is no probability that the entire number of the dead will fall short of 700.

Somerset is visited this morning by a general and much needed rain, which makes the clever population look more clever still.

Frankfort voted 1,011 to 10 to subscribe $100,000 to the Kentucky Midland railroad.

The tariff debate, which was shut off by the exodus of the republican members to Chicago, has been resumed.

Wallace Mitchell, who confessed to the murder of a 6-year-old boy, was taken from the sheriff and hanged at Symmes, Kansas.

The Franklin county grand jury found four indictments against Ex-Treasurer Tate, the total amount set forth being $404,085.85, which embraces repetitions, the real proved amount of his steal being $217,000.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

D. M. Lackey and Judge Owsley are still on the sick list. The former has been seriously ill.

Several of our citizens will go to Nicholasville next Sunday to see and hear the Barnes troupe.

H. T. Noel and J. C. Thompson went to Pineville Tuesday to pick up all the bargains in that vicinity.

We are now having too much rain. Some fears are felt for the safety of the wheat crop. But it is fine for everything.

Messrs. John Briggs and J. H. Cline, of Marfa, Texas, are in the city with 73 ponies and mules, which they have for sale.

Hon. W. O. Bradley returned from Chicago Wednesday, looking as fresh as if he had been nominated for vice-president.

W. B. Mason, our popular circuit clerk is happy over a nine-pound girl, which arrived at his house Wednesday evening.

Sheriff Tom Robinson was taken very ill Tuesday, and it was with difficulty he reached his home. He is much better at this writing.

The nomination of Kid-glove Ben Harrison is quite acceptable to the democrats here. They all think he is the softest snap of the bunch.

The firm of Schilling & Zimmer has been dissolved by mutual consent, Mr. Schilling will take the Lancaster store and Mr. Zimmer the one at Stanford.

For an answer to the oft-repeated question, "What's the matter with Ben-Harrison?" those interested are respectfully referred to Mr. Jas. Sherman, of Ohio.

The Louisville Southern surveyors have reached Bryantsville, having run two routes from Verchamp to that place, one to Colby Jenkins', the other to Hon. W. Berkele's.

The Buckner Club now numbers about 100 members. The club is not likely to have any representatives at Louisville to-day, as the organization came too late.

On July 1st there will be a mail route established between here and Cedar Orchard. A bus will be put on, which will make it very convenient for persons desiring to attend the springs.

The Lancaster politicians are now that the conventions are over, busily engaged in discussing the tariff. The opinion is almost universal that what we need is a reduction of that obnoxious monster.

There is a movement on foot to organize a stock company and buy the Lancaster mills. There are no better mills in the country than these and it looks like there ought to be money made by them.

The prospects for a fine school at Garrard College next session are very flattering. Profs. Skinner and Taylor have made a splendid impression upon our people and all are pulling for the College. Good enough.

J. V. Cook, J. S. Robinson and Fleece Robinson sold 200 acres of land, part of the Henry Bruce farm, to Mr. Moss, of Pineville, for $45 per acre. It is fine land. Mr. Moss will build on the place and move here about September the 1st.

Mr. Mortimer Rothwell, familiarly known as "Peek," concluded to ride one of the unbroken ponies of Briggs & Cline, but he was not equal to the task, being pitched sprawling on the ground by the broncho in about 3 seconds. He will be wise next time.

Misses Nellie Ray and Minnie Walker are attending the meeting of the Chautauquans at Lexington. Prof. G. D. Moss, who gave such satisfaction as a teacher here, will remove to Woodbine where he has a school. The best wishes of our people attend him. Misses Sallie Anderson and Allie Brown will teach the public school here the coming session.

The Carpenter Case.

To the Editor of the Interior Journal:

Somerset, June 27.—The testimony in the Carpenter case all in this morning. Lawyers will begin the argument immediately. Thus far the trial has progressed quietly and harmoniously.

Gen. Wolford addressed the "world and the rest of mankind" last night on the vital importance of sending him back to Congress. I was a little sick and hence unable to hear him.

Messrs. Hill, Alcorn and Welch, of Stanford, and Yerkes, of Danville, are arrayed in force for the defense. Dick Warren is manipulating the prosecution with his usual zeal and ability and rendering efficient aid to the representatives of the Commonwealth.

The floods along the Mexican Central Railroad have been terrible in their consequences, both to human life and to property. DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

Mr. W. G. Marks is now traveling in the South for Vorhees, Miller and Ruple, of Cincinnati, a large clothing house.

A locomotive upset near Junction City Wednesday morning. No one was hurt, but several trains were delayed in consequence.

Preparations are on foot to give the newspaper men who are to assemble here July 4th a large and enthusiastic welcome. Danville always was fond of "literary fellers."

Col. Logan McKee and his cohorts, all gleaming with purple and gold, have returned from Chicago. The colonel is of the opinion that Harrison and Morton will "get 'em" this time sure and certain.

Rev. George O. Barnes passed thro' town Wednesday evening on his way to Nicholasville, where he is to hold a meeting. There is a movement on foot among his friends here to invite him to Danville at the conclusion of his Nicholasville meeting.

Wm. Withers toted a pistol and crossed Emily Street Wednesday evening and when Jailer F. M. Shumate went to arrest him he enjoyed himself by having a fight with that officer. He was finally overpowered and taken to jail, and will be tried this morning.

"The Continental degree, or the degree of '76," a side degree in Masonry, and a great favorite with Gens. Washington, Marion and other patriots of the Revolution, was conferred on Brothers H. M. Linney and Nick McDowell by Brother Green Clay Smith on Tuesday. The lessons taught by this degree is one never to be forgotten.

Fred Handman, who gives employment to more poor people than any one man in town, and whose account the banks find no objection to, contemplates the erection of large and permanent buildings to meet the demands of his beer bottling business. The only thing which causes him to hesitate is the fear that about the time he gets the buildings done our bosses may think it advisable to enact a few more temperance laws.

The democracy of Boyle county organized a club Wednesday night. R. P. Jacobs was elected President and B. S. Nichols Secretary. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws. E. W. Lee and C. B. Anderson were sent to Louisville as delegates to the State league, which meets in that city to-day (Thursday). When we get in working order the republican conspirators against the peace of the NATION had better look out.

Mr. Robert Hann, who left Danville last March for Topeka, Kansas, to embark in the real estate business, failed to get at once "into the swim," and preferring not to wait went, after 5 or 6 weeks, to Denton, Texas, where he formed a partnership with his brother, Jas. A. Hann, a leading dry goods merchant. The proceeds of 50 shares of stock in the Farmers National Bank of Stanford, to be sold next Monday, he expects to invest in the Denison enterprise. While in Topeka he noticed with gratification the prosperity of the Larimer family, born and raised in Danville. Harry is the principal of a high school, the equal of ordinary colleges; Jerry Hoyle Larimer is a successful lawyer; William, the owner of a large dry goods store, while the younger boys all to lucrative employment. All are first-class, socially, and did a good thing for themselves when they left Kentucky for Kansas.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Mr. John D. Carpenter, after an illness of nearly six months of most intense suffering with abscess of the liver, breathed his last Wednesday evening at his home near Hustonville. Mr. Carpenter had been a particularly healthy man all of the 31 years of his life, until afflicted with the above disease, and although suffering as he had been for the last three months of his life, he never murmured. He was an universally popular man and was held in the highest esteem by his neighbors, who have the best of chances to find out a man, and although not a professor of religion, no one did more to further good than he, always helping churches, it mattered not of what denomination, with either money or work, whenever he thought it was necessary. He married Miss Maggie White, of Clay county, and their union has been blessed with three children, who with their mother survive him. Mr. Carpenter left an estate valued at some $40,000, but it is not known whether or not he made a will. His remains were followed by a large concourse of friends to the Hustonville cemetery, where they were laid to rest at 3 o'clock Thursday evening, Elder Joseph Ballou officiating.

—Winchester Court, 301 cattle of feed. A lot of 1,100 pounds average sold at $100, of 800 pounds $21.50; 2-year-olds, 95 lbs. $35 and 50 head of 1,200-pound cattle at $4.30. [Sun.]

—Root & Carter, of this county, bought 225 sheep last fall. They kept them through the winter at a small cost and have already sold enough wool and mutton to pay for what they cost besides having 75 more head than they started with. There is evidently good money in sheep when managed as they should be.

—Haggins' sale of 64 yearling thoroughbreds at New York realized $112,750; King Thomas, a yearling colt, by King Bum, out of Maud Hampton, and full brother to King Fox and Ban Fox selling for $8,000, L. O. Appleby being the purchaser. This is the highest price ever paid in this country, either for a yearling or for a thoroughbred of any age, the highest price heretofore being $8,200 for a yearling and $24,000 for a three-year-old. It is also the highest price ever paid anywhere for a yearling King Thomas is a Kentucky colt, but when sold was the property of Haggins, the California turfman.

He was taken at once to his home, since which he has regained somewhat the use of his arm, but his leg refuses to perform its functions. Mr. Potts has had a slight stroke before and recovered, which animates the hopes of his friends that he will soon be all right again.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For President,

GROVER CLEVELAND,

Of New York.

For Vice-President,

ALLEN G. THURMAN,

Of Ohio.

For Judge of the Court of Appeals,

JUDGE W. S. PRYOR,

The Man who Swears will not Steal.

To the Editor Interior Journal.

The Rev. Mr. Noel, of Lancaster, is claiming the authorship of the remark for which Sam Jones has had the discredit; "A man who swears will steal." Mr. Noel is laboring under a strong delusion if he believes such foolish expressions as that will add to his reputation for wisdom and piety.—[Courier Journal.] We have too good an opinion of Mr. Noel to think he would claim the authorship of such damnable rot or give utterance to it.

You are right and I thank you, Walton, for your direct manner in resenting such an attack, but here comes my own dear Dorse, reminding me of the dark days of our own:

Dick should remember the days when he swore, and drank too; and yet we never believed that he would steal, although his expression seems to cover all mankind and himself included.

He's for shame! I wonder if the C. J. and others will make amends? I will try them through the columns of your bold, outspoken paper. The paragraph in the Courier-Journal is calculated to do me an injury and cause me to answer a great many questions, therefore I will give the origin of the expression, "A man who swears will steal." I disclaim the authorship and thank you for your quick reply. Between five and six years ago in Richmond I gave my opinion, publicly, of what I saw take place, not privately; viz: One Saturday evening on the street, a number of negroes were arrested for stealing, the officer having to knock one of them down to take a pair of pants from him. The last named circumstance created considerable excitement, during which several cries of "hang him!" "hang him!" mingled with such oaths as I have never heard fall from a man's lips, although I have been a soldier for over four years, have mingled with sailors and a railroad man for 40 years—all proverbial sets, "Cuss like a sailor!" "Steal like a soldier," "Wicked as a R. R. man," yet I never heard such tall "swearing" as I heard in Richmond that night, and a man was pointed out to me worth over $100,000 who was chief "cuss." It preached next day from the text Jer. 17:9, "The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked," and in speaking of our natural inclinations to sin I spoke of what I saw and heard the previous night. Commenting upon it and without any distinctions as to the great sins of stealing, taking God's name in vain, killing, &c., I made this remark, "that the unregenerated human heart was filled with all these things—Matt. 15:19—and the unrestrained heart would do one as well as the other and that the man who would rob God of his holy, good name and use it so profanely, would, if there were no law to punish, steal." Tipton, in commenting on the sermon, said: Noel said, "A man who swears will steal." I did not say it. A man can swear and not take the name of God in vain, but it is wrong to swear at all. Sam Jones read what Tipton said about it, which had been quoted and commented on in the Courier-Journal, and he preached a sermon on it which the Journal commented at length, but neither Sam Jones nor Rail Road Noel is the author of the above, but French Tipton, present editor of the Clinax, Richmond, Ky. Arise, Mr. Tipton, and speak.

About two weeks ago Sam Jones lectured in Richmond. I heard him and being the first time we had ever met, I thanked him for defending what I had said over five years since. Next morning I was in Tipton's office and said: "Tipton, did you know that a sermon I preached some time ago brought Sam Jones before the public on the same subject? You commented on it in pretty strong terms, do you remember?" "Yes," said Tipton, "A man who swears will steal." "Just so," said I, "last night is the first time we have met." I paid for a year's subscription to the Clinax and walked out. Now here comes the Courier-Journal, "In and About Kentucky," commenting on somebody, I don't know who, but I deny the charge. I expect Sam Jones would do the same thing, that is us to the authorship of the phrase. French Tipton is the author, give him the credit for it. This is pretty lengthy; cut it down to suit yourself. Give the solid truth, though, and you talk the papers and do my fighting and I'll back you until the "cows come home." Speak right out and don't fear; I'm public property and open for criticism. I'll do the preaching and both of us will watch and pray. Don't use such harsh words as "I-e-not," people will think you are mad and you are too hard on Tipton—equity—peace and Cleveland and Thirteenth.

The Work of a Minute.

A ray of light travels 31,160,000 miles in a minute.

In the United States the telephone is used 595 times, the telegraph 433 times in a minute.

In a minute the lowest sound your ear can catch has been made by 930 vibrations, while the highest tone reaches you after making 2,228,000 vibrations.

In each minute in the United States, night and day, all the year round, 24 barrels of beer have to go down 12,000 throats, and 4,830 bushels of grain have come to bin.

In a minute an express train goes a mile, and a Pittsburgh street-car 32 rods; the fastest trotting horse 147 9/13 rods and an average pedestrian of the gentry has got over 16 rods.

10 tobacco 925 pounds is raised, and of it has been used in making 6,675 cigars, and some more of it has gone up in the smoke of 2,222 cigarettes, in the United States, in one minute.

In a minute we are whirled around on the outside of the earth by its diurnal motion, a distance of 13 miles, and at the same time going along with the earth on its journey around the sun 1,080 miles.

Every minute 600 pounds of wool grow in this country, and we have to dig 6 tons of anthracite coal and 200 tons of bituminous coal, while of pig iron we turn out 12 tons an of steel rails 3 tons.

In 40 seconds our country makes 15 kegs of nails, 12 bales of cotton come from the fields, and 36 bushels of grain go into 140 gallons of spirits, while $66 in gold is dug out of the earth. In the same time the United States Mint turns out gold and silver coin to the value of $121, and 42 acres of the public domain have been sold or given away.—[Pittsburg Dispatch.]

The great painting, "The Prodigal Son," which went up in a flame a few years ago, was once exhibited in old St. James' Hall. Among those who one day sat and gazed at the noble centerpiece, with its magnificent side panels of the Feed of the Swine and the Return of the Prodigal, were a farmer and his wife. After looking long and silently at the imposing picture of gorgeous revelry and the contrasting scenes of retribution and repentance, the farmer's wife, heaving a sigh, turned to her husband, and tipping her head forward so as to look at him over her spectacles, said in earnest tones audible to all about her: "Ain't them nice pigs?"—[Buffalo Express.]

A speed trial between the telegraph and telephone from New York to Boston was lately undertaken at the Sun newspaper office, New York. The contest lasted for ten minutes; 330 words were delivered in Boston, ready for the printer, by telegraph, and 346 words by telephone. But many of the telephone words were incorrectly received. So the telegraph was the winner.

Europe has an abundance of widowed Empresses just now. Germany has two, the wives of William I and Frederick III; England's Queen and Empress of India has been long widowed; the once beautiful Eugenie, of France, still lingers at Chislehurst; and Carlotta, the unfortunate widow of Maximilian, once Emperor of Mexico, still lives in an asylum.

Few realize that in less than twelve years we shall have entered upon a new century. Happy, indeed, has been the lot of the man who has lived in the closing years of the 19th century. He has witnessed the grandest achievements in science, if not in art and literature, that the world has ever known.—[Albany Journal.]

A republican paper sees ill luck in Tipton because there are so many 13 letters in his name, he was born November 13, 1813, and he was nominated June 7 as a candidate for the suffrages of November 6, the sum of these two dates being 13. These figures do not worry the old Roman.

The trains on the electric railroad between New Haven and Derby, in Connecticut, run 15 miles an hour. The custom is to make a mile in five minutes. The train, which consists of a motor-car and a passenger car carrying 60 persons, can be brought to a full stop in 50 feet.

Mrs. Phoebe Chesley, Peterson, Clay Co., Iowa tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by residents of the town: I am 73 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not sleep myself without help. Now I am free from pain and soreness and am able to do all my own housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth and removed completely all disease and pain. Mr. W. H. Morgan, merchant, Lake City, Fla., was taken with a severe cold, attended with a distressing cough and running into Consumption in its first stages. He tried many so called popular cough remedies and steadily grew worse, was reduced in flesh, had difficulty in breathing and was unable to sleep. Finally tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and found immediate relief, and after using about a half dozen bottles found himself well and had no return of the disease.
